

PROJECTS PACIFIC

Planning and Landscape Architecture

The Firm

Projects Pacific is an international design and planning firm known for strong, unified designs. We have built a diverse practice of resort and hospitality, urban design, commercial and residential projects. Each project offers boundless possibilities and innovative designs. We strive to create captivating settings that motivate users to seek and appreciate excellence.

Successful designs require close interaction between our clients and staff. Projects Pacific serves national and international clients from our office in Berkeley and Los Angeles, California. Our diverse, multi-lingual staff is involved in all aspects of design and planning to ensure an outcome that meets the aspirations of our clients and is respectful of the sites culture and environment.

The synthesis of client needs and site opportunities comes about through a design process we define as “scripting”. Scripting is the foundation of Project Pacific’s work. Through the use of scripting, essential qualities and values embodied in the project are distilled and expressed as a cohesive design statement. By transforming intangible qualities like feeling and character into built environments, our designs seek to invite playful interaction, exploration and rejuvenation.

Projects Pacific has established itself as an industry leader in the fields of planning and landscape architecture. Projects Pacific has the resources to manage complex design issues for both public and private clients.
